

Values in Action: Adriana

SUPER: VALUES IN ACTION

Adriana, Information Management, Chevron

Chevron's values are very closely aligned with my personal values, and there is a link between my value of diversity and Chevron's value of diversity. My father asked me, "Why are you going to work for an oil company? You are a Latina, you're going to get lost." So what I have been pleasantly surprised about is the fact that I don't feel lost. My first day on the job, a woman who was a Latina was there and she was a representative of SOMOS, the Hispanic Employee Network at Chevron. So there is a lot of attention to making sure that folks have the opportunity to grow and learn within the company, and have plenty of opportunities to do so regardless of what career path you choose. So I think that for me is a pleasant surprise and someone coming on board new to Chevron would be happy to know that.
